A Friend's Dilemma

Your friend Chris is spending the afternoon with you, and you begin to talk about dating and falling in love. All of a sudden, Chris gets serious and tells you that his/her father's best friend has been coming to the house when no one else is home. Chris says this person has been touching him/her in ways that are very uncomfortable. Chris doesn't know what to do and makes you promise not to tell anyone.

Should you keep the secret? Why or why not?

What things could you do to be helpful to Chris?
